

Central Library Temporarily Closed Due to Leak in Exterior Water Main

Los Angeles, October 29, 2013 – Central Library temporarily closed to the public and staff this afternoon at 3 p.m. due to a leak in a water main.

The leak occurred outside the library and required turning off the water supply to the building located at 630 W. Fifth St., downtown. Water did not intrude into the building. The facility was closed for the safety and comfort of patrons and staff.

Central Library is expected to open for regular hours, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., on Wednesday, October 30.

Updates on the re-opening will be posted on the library's website, www.lapl.org.
