The Los Angeles Public Library To Restore Full Library Hours and Weekend Operations Beginning August 2

Los Angeles (August 2, 2021) – The Los Angeles Public Library will fully restore weekday and weekend hours beginning Monday, August 2, 2021. This returns the hours of operation to the pre-pandemic schedule and is the latest phase of the library's ongoing reopening following the closure of all libraries last year due to COVID-19 .

The library will continue to offer select services at 70 locations across the city that include quick browsing, computer access, pick-up of holds and mobile printing orders and checking out of materials inside libraries.

For a complete list of libraries, updated hours and services offered at each location, visit lapl.org/reopening. Follow #LAPLreopen for updates.

A recipient of the nation's highest honor for library service—the National Medal from the Institute of Museum and Library Services, the Los Angeles Public Library serves the largest and most diverse urban population of any library in the nation. Its Central Library, 72 branch libraries, collection of more than 6 million books, state-of-the-art technology accessible at lapl.org, and diverse programs provide everyone with free and easy access to information and the opportunity for lifelong learning.
